Realtors' Open House of Properties for Sale

Prospective buyers who are interested in fine historic properties are invited to attend this event which will feature a number of distinguished properties available for sale in Detroit's Historic Boston Edison and Arden Park-East Boston Neighborhood Districts. The rich history of these Woodward Corridor neighborhoods located just north of Detroit's bustling Wayne State University Campus, Midtown and New Center Area communities will be shared with prospective buyers. Learn why residing in the neighborhoods that Henry Ford, Sebastian S. Kresge, Charles T. Fisher, Ira Grinnell, Rabbi Leo M. Franklin, Meyer L. Prentis, Remus Robinson, M.D., James Couzens, Sidney Barthwell, Joe Louis, Horace Rackham, Berry Gordy, Jr., Fredric Fisher, John Dodge, J. L. Hudson, Dr. Dewitt Burton, Charles Diggs, Sr. and Dr. Haley Bell called home in the 20th Century may be the place for you in the 21st.

The Boston Edison Historic District consists of a 36 block area containing approximately 900 distinct homes. The District is bordered by Boston Boulevard on the north, Edison Avenue on the south, Woodward Avenue on the east and Linwood on the west. The Arden Park-East Boston District is a community of 90+ homes. The District is bordered by Arden Park on the south, Woodward Avenue on the west, Oakland Avenue on the east and East Boston on the north.
